

Patagonia Expedition

An unmissable route for adventure lovers in one of the most evocative places in the world.

One of the trips to do once in a lifetime

6 days for 1,000 km from El Calafate, in the heart of Patagonia, to discover the most iconic places in the far south, such as the Perito Moreno glacier and descending through boundless prairies, deserts, lakes and visiting places of incredible charm such as Torres del Paine and its granite towers.

Programme

Day 1

- › Arrival in El Calafate and welcome dinner

Day 2

- › Departure for the first guided on/off-road tour to visit Los Glaciares National Park and the famous Perito Moreno

Day 3

- › We get back in the saddle of the DesertX for the second guided on/off-road tour! It starts south along Ruta 40, skirting the border between Argentina and Chile, along vast grasslands and plateaus. We are in the middle of Argentina's largest desert, the eighth largest in the world, located along the eastern slopes of the Andes to the Atlantic coast

Day 4

- › One of the most beautiful stages that can be done in Patagonia, the dirt road tour of Torres del Paine National Park, immersed in an earthly paradise, between lakes, small waterfalls, grassy expanses, glaciers, high mountains (2.884 m) and granite towers. A stage that alone is worth a trip

Day 5

- › We set off again east along Ruta 40, returning to Argentina a few kilometers after the start and continuing north crossing the desert, also known as the Patagonian steppe

Day 6

- › Check out
